Taft Housing Bill Faces Second Hurdle

WASHINGTON—(AP)—House members hoisted storm signals today for a Senate approved program aimed at building 15,000,000 homes in the next 10 years.

As in the Senate, which passed the multi-billion dollar Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill yesterday, the House controversy centers around the measure's 500,000-unit public housing section.

The House banking committee pigeonholed a similar Senate bill two years ago. Then, as now, many opponents called the public housing section "socialized housing."

Banking Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) set "full hearings" for May 3 and told a reporter "some sort of housing bill" will pass.

He declined to say whether it will make any provisions for public housing, whereby the government would build and operate dwellings for low income families.

But Rep. Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio), a commitee member, told reporters "I am opposed to public housing. I think there is a probability the house will stop this legislation."

Here is what the Senate bill would provide:

1. A 500,000-unit public housing program, with government-owned and operated structures for low income families unable to afford houses built by private industry. Federal subsidies would amount to $160,000,000 annually by the fifth year and would continue at this rate for the next 40 years.

2. Clearance of city slums with $500,000,000 in subsidies and 45-year loans totaling $1,010,000,000.

3. A $268,500,000 farm housing program, with farmers eligible for loans or subsidies if they are without "sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing."

4 Extension of federal home loan insurance, with the federal housing administration authorized to insure an additional $2,000,000,000 in mortgages on new construction

Home loan terms generally would be liberalized—for example next year low income families could get 90 per cent loans, with 30 years to pay and 4 per cent interest.

5. To spur construction of rental housing, there is a program of 90 per cent loans over 40 years at four per cent interest. Big scale investors in rental housing would be guaranteed an annual profit of 3½ per cent on their outstanding investment.

Contempt Action In Abeyance

Judge Follows U. S. Request

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today postponed indefinitely any further contempt penalty against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers Union.

Goldsborough accepted a government recommendation that he impose no further punishment at this time.

Assistant Attorney General Graham Morison said no useful purpose could be accomplished by new fines against Lewis and the union now.

Last Tuesday, Goldsborough fined Lewis $20,000 personally and the UMW $1,400,000 for criminal contempt of court. The contempt finding was based on their disregard of an April 3 court order to stop the coal strike.

There was also a finding by the judge that Lewis and the union were guilty of civil contempt.

Today's court session was for sentencing on the civil contempt charge.

Morison told Goldsborough that 85 per cent or more of the soft coal miners have returned to work.

JUDGE AGREES

Therefore, Morison said, he moved that a civil contempt sentence be put off "indefinitely." The judge agreed.

Morison said "the government is quite happy" over the back-to-work movement in the coal fields.

The government attorney indicated that the justice department might renew its contempt charge if there is a resumption of the walkout.

Goldsborough has issued an injunction under the Taft-Hartley labor act This injunction, or court order, forbids continuance or renewal of the strike on grounds it would threaten the national health and safety.

Lewis's attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, agreed to Morison's proposal that the civil contempt sentencing be put off indefinitely. He said there were more than 85 per cent of coal diggers back on the job—the figure used by Morison.

Judge Goldsborough said "the court is more than happy to know that the normal situation is being restored."

"The court postpones indefinitely any sentence for civil contempt."

"All right gentlemen," Goldsborough said without looking toward Lewis, who was in his accustomed place, "the matter is disposed of, and this court is adjourned."

TRAPPED DIVER SAVED—Rescue workers rush efforts to reach Commercial Diver Edward Christiansen of Oyster Bay, L. I., who was trapped 30 feet below the surface in the channel between Staten Island and New Jersey for almost three hours when tons of mud collapsed on him. Still alive, Christiansen was rescued by 14 Navy divers and one commercial diver who blasted mud off him with high-pressure hoses.—(International Soundphoto)

GOP Screens Job Seekers

Mayor Holds Session With Party Leaders

Richland county Republican party leaders met in Mayor Roy W. Vaughn's office today to consider applicants for the safety-service directorship.

E. L. Morgan has resigned, effective May 8.

Mayor Roy Vaughn said announcement of the new director will be made as soon as a decision is reached.

He met with James V. Will, GOP central committee chairman, and Ralph Hardy, county executive chairman Hardy said it might be as long as a week before the choice is made.

It was not disclosed who was being considered for the $4,000 a year post, but Hardy said one person was favored for the job.

Mentioned in city building circles today as possible candidates for the post were Paul Ritchie, municipal court clerk; Charles J. Stecker, clerk of council, and E. W. Davis, street superintendent.

Morgan resigned to accept the managership of the Culligan Soft Water Service, succeeding councilman-at-large Harry J. Hollingsworth.

ERP Backed By Leftists

ROME—(U.P.)—The Italian communist front suffered a new blow today when Socialist Leader Guiseppe Romita announced his section of the leftwing would support the European recovery program.

Romita, former minister of Interior, said his group recognized that Italian reconstruction was impossible without United States aid.

"The Socialist party, in conformity with what the Socialist parties of Europe have already done, must also choose in favor of ERP," he added.

Romita has called a special meeting of his Socialist leaders for Sunday to swing his group away from the communist front, which already is staggering under the impact of the Italian government's sweeping victory in this week's election.

The father, Donald Gimick, was held by Licking county Sheriff Roe Francis, pending the outcome of Peterson's injuries.

Hospital attendants reported Peterson's condition this morning as "fairly good."

Francis said Gimick went to Peterson's home last night, waited while the coach finished a telephone conversation, then beat the teacher about the head "with a four-by-four club."

Gimick claimed Peterson "roughed up" his son, David, and slapped him.

School authorities would say only that David "misbehaved in class."

Police Disperse Pickets

U. S. Attempts To End Walkout

CHICAGO — (UP) — Violence reached new heights in the nationwide meat strike today as club-swinging police dispersed pickets at Kansas City, Kans., and a Chicago detective was shot by a striker.

Minor picket line violence also was reported at Denver, Waterloo, Ia., Ottum. a, Ia., and other big packing centers.

The new outburst of violence came only 16 hours after the government, in another move to end the 39-day walkout, summoned officials of the striking CIO United Packinghouse workers and the big four meat packers to Washington for negotiations Monday.

The big strike, which had begun peacefully March 16 when pickets in a holiday mood closed many of the nation's big packing plants, apparently had taken on a different complexion. As the strike dragged on, tempers of both pickets and police were worn thin.

At Kansas City, Kans., police and pickets fought a bloody, 10-minute battle which began at the main gate of the strikebound Cudahy plant and surged into the nearby union headquarters as police chased the fleeing pickets and battered them into submission. Six persons were injured.

FOLLOWS MAYOR'S ORDER

The outbreak followed an order by Mayor Clark Tucker to clear the area of pickets. More than 100 police were ordered to the scene and participated in the fight. Police estimated there were 500 persons in the area.

At Chicago, Detective Charles Nork, 41, was shot in the wrist, knee and abdomen last night when he and two other policemen tried to arrest three pickets in a tavern near the union stockyards.

Captain Eli Dahlin, detective in charge of quelling the Kansas City outbreak, said the trouble at Cudahy's could have been avoided had the pickets and strikers obeyed police orders to disperse.

Quiz Red In Shooting

DETROIT —(AP)— An intensive police probe into the attempted killing of Walter Reuther was stepped up today with the continued questioning of an admitted communist.

The 52-year-old foundry worker was reported by an unidentified fellow employe at a Ford Motor company plant to have said he knew who fired the shot that shattered the arm of the CIO United Auto Workers president Tuesday night.

Prosecutor James N. McNally identified the man as Nelson Davis and said he had signed a formal statement that he was a member of the Communist party.

He emphasized, however, no charge has been placed against Davis. There is conclusive evidence he was on the job when Reuther was attacked, McNally added.

Davis was taken to police headquarters yesterday along with three other UAW members. McNally informed his attorney Davis would be held without charge for further questioning today "by court order if necessary."

The others, Sheldon Tappes, 37, former secretary of Ford local 600, Percy Llewellyn, ex-president of the local, and Wilfred Grant, left the station after questioning by police officers.

Prosecutor McNally said he had talked to the tipster who gave police news of Davis, and had received "some valuable information." The informant's identity remained a closely-guarded police secret.

Mural Hung In City Hall

A mural depicting the first court ever held in Richland county was to be hung in the new municipal court room on the third floor of the city building late today.

The 11½ by 12 foot painting, done on canvas by Artist H. R. McBride, shows three laymen judges and one lawyer sitting on the bench in a blockhouse courthouse some time before 1851. The blockhouse was located near the site of the present county courthouse.

McBride was commissioned by the city two months ago to paint the mural. He completed the work in his studio at 29½ North Walnut street.

Workmen already have painted the walls in the municipal court room and carpenters are putting stained wood on several tables, the jury box, the judge's bench and the rail separating the court area from the spectators area.

The mural will hang behind the judge's bench on the west side of the room.

Calls Truth 'Shocking'

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Cleveland citizens were warned today of "shocking news when the whole truth comes out" in the police department investigation.

Cuyahoga county Common Pleas Judge Frank J. M r. told a nearby Chagrin Falls Kiwanis club audience last night that "pay dirt" has been struck but that it might be difficult to prove it to a jury.

The judge stated that when the full story of the current investigation into the Cleveland police department is made available, the public will find it difficult to believe that "this could go on in the heart of a metropolitan community."

Sawyer 27th on Honor Roll

26 Ohioans Have Held Cabinet Posts

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Appointment of Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati attorney, to the post of secretary of commerce would raise to 27 the number of Ohioans who have been cabinet members, records here showed today.

Sawyer's 26 predecessors held 30 jobs. Five of the men served in more than one capacity, and addition of the commerce portfolio raises to seven the number which Buckeye residents have held.

Three presidents each had three Ohioans in their official families, and William McKinley had three consecutive Buckeyes as secretary of state—John Sherman of Mansfield, William R. Day, Canton, and John Hay of Cleveland

Lincoln had three Ohioans in his cabinet, but not at the same time. Salmon P. Chase of Cincinnati, was his treasury secretary and Edwin M. Stanton of Steubenville his secretary of war before he gave the postmaster generalship to William Dennison of Columbus.

Chase had been promoted to chief justice when Lincoln named Dennison as head of the post office department after the Columbus man had served as governor early in the Civil war.

Ohio's first cabinet member was Return Johathan Meigs of Marietta, whom President Madison made postmaster general. Meigs served as governor during the war of 1812.

"Pathway of Progress," a history of Ohio by David G. Bowman, telegraph editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, points out that four Ohioans have held more than one cabinet post and that seats in the official families of American presidents have had a special appeal for Ohio governors.

Seven Ohioans either before or after their Washington careers, were at the head of the state government.

Arabs Flee From Haifa

HAIFA—(U.P.)—The Arab population of Haifa was reported fleeing by land and sea today after refusing a Jewish truce demanding that they law down their arms and submit to search.

More than 6,000 fled by sea in small fishing boats across the bay to Acre, Arab stronghold near the Syrian border. Other thousands, mostly women and children, streamed out by road to Arab strongholds in the hills.

Jewish Haganah forces fanned out from the city in expectation of a quick Arab counterattack. They captured the Arab area of Suq, on Haifa's eastern gate, and assaulted the southern Arab suburb of Tireh.

Reports from the outskirts said the battle of Tireh, about four miles south of the port area, was one of the major Jewish actions designed to protect the great oil port from an Arab counterattack.

Not more than 10,000 Arabs were reported left in the city, with more than 40,000 already evacuated. Some were reported to be Arab fighters left to contest full Jewish capture of the strategic port.

Gaggney said "millions" of weekly lottery tickets paying off on the U. S. treasury balance were seized.

Taft Assails Stassen Bid

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Sen. Robert A. Taft today asserted that Harold E. Stassen's bid for presidential delegates in Ohio was based on unproven liberalism and generalities.

The Ohio senator, restating his support of a social legislation program that would cost "possibly one billion dollars" a year, challenged Stassen to make public his views on such legislation and other issues before the GOP party.

Speaking at Steubenville last night, Taft charged that Stassen "was not getting down to brass tacks but proclaiming only general principles." The Ohio "favorite son" candidate was scheduled to appear on a "Meet the Press" radio broadcast here at 10 p. m. (EST).

Both Taft and the former governor of Minnesota are in Ohio this week campaigning for support in the Ohio May 4 primary election. Taft will go to Washington Sunday and return to Ohio Tuesday to campaign right up to election eve.

Stretching Your Dollar

Many Jobs Can Be Done By Homemaker

NEW YORK—(AP)—You may be able to beat down the high cost of living with your own hands.

Since labor costs are a major factor in most products bought at the store, home economists say you can save large sums by buying the "raw materials" and doing the work yourself. This includes home sewing, home baking and home preparation of other foods, and other home occupations such as the painting of furniture which has been bought in an unfinished state.

The National Needlecraft Bureau, Inc., an organization formed to promote home sewing, says that in the medium price range, a dress suit, coat or blouse can be made at home for ⅓ to ½ the cost of a ready-to-wear garment of similar style and fabric.

"In higher priced fashions where the store service, better workmanship and exclusivity of style add to the price, the savings by sewing are greater," this bureau says.

The same fine workmanship and individuality of style can be duplicated at home by the expert sewer without additional expense. As many excellent designers are creating fashions for the pattern-makers there is no loss of style.

A wool gabardine suit, selling ready-made at $59.95, can be made at home for $22, the bureau estimates.

A cotton dress costing $9.98 in the store, can be made at home for $4.60, it says, and an all-wool spring coat, store-priced at $55, can be produced for $26.70.

"It should be remembered, too, that many fabrics used in ready-made clothes are of such inferior quality that the garments are worthless after the first cleaning or washing," the bureau says.

"Such fabrics are not sold by the yard, so that the sewer invariably puts better fabric into the clothes she makes.

SALES SAVE MONEY

"Fabric sales offer the home sewer an opportunity for additional savings. The woman who plans her wardrobe for several seasons ahead, keeping in mind colors and what clothes she will need, is better able to take advantage of fabric sales than the woman who plans one dress or suit at a time.

"Women who sew are also in a position to save money on clothes by making over dresses that are out of style.

"Another source of saving is in home decorating items such draperies, curtains and slipcovers. These articles, too, can be made for ⅓ to ½ price of the store-bought items."

The Twentieth Century Fund, an independent foundation which studies economic problems, estimates that pastries, cakes and other baked goods often may be made at home for as little as ½ the cost of the purchased article. It also is estimated that you can save between 25 and 50 per cent by making your own biscuits instead of buying them.

Department stores often advertise unpainted furniture at prices one-third or more below the finished product. Actually, according to past publications of the Department of Agriculture, the list of services which the consumer can perform for himself is amazingly long.

They include: Home painting and decorating, woodworking, cleaning and dyeing of clothes, hair-cutting and hair-dressing, plumbing repairs.

The department says "how to do it" information on all these money-saving points is available in most public libraries.

Spokesmen for the "do it yourself and save" school emphasize, however, that in most cases amateurs will not do as polished a job as professionals and that effort and time must be expended to achieve a saving in money.

85 REGISTERED and GRADE HOLSTEIN COWS and HEIFERS

The registered cows and heifers being offered are from herds in Canada, that have been concentrating their breeding, for many years, in obtaining a high degree of quality both as to production and conformation. Many of the leading strains will have offspring in this offering.

The grade cows and heifers are Canadian purebreds, but are ineligible to register. They are of high quality and are big producers.

With green pasture in the immediate offing, this is an opportunity to profit from this, and increase the production. All the cows and heifers offered will be fresh by sale date, or close-up.

(Calves Sold Separately)

The majority of both registered and grades are first and second calf heifers. The balance, young cows. Many are calfhood vaccinated.

Four generation pedigrees furnished on all registered cows and heifers. All registration certificates transferred free of charge. State Laboratory tested.

Court Rules Galion Safety Director Illegally Hired

Enjoins City From Paying $600 Salary

40 Days Residence Held Lacking

GALION—Galion's so far unpaid safety-service director faced today an uncertain tenure of office.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl of Crawford county ruled yesterday that the city illegally employed John F Porter as safety director.

The court issued a permanent injunction against payment of Porter's $600 a month salary on the ground he was not a legal resident of Galion at the time of his appointment Feb. 4 or at the time of the hearing on an injunction suit brought by John Drouth, a taxpayer, on March 29.

Drouth contended the $600 salary set for Porter was excessive but Judge Ahl did not rule on the validity of the pay scale.

The decision left the city without a legal safety-service director, uncertain as to the legal status of payments made to employes of Porter's department on the basis of vouchers signed by Porter, and uncertain as to whether or not Porter would agree to remain

Porter himself had no comment when asked if he would remain in Galion until he legally could be appointed to the position next month. That will be 40 days after March 30, according to the court ruling

In the two-year-old pace Sept. 2, three of Michael's horses will be entered, Winsomeway, bay filly; Allan Abbe, bay colt and Widower Sam, a bay gelding. Nestel will enter Frisco Bonus in the same race.

Bucyrus Class Gives Play Tonight

BUCYRUS—Full dress rehearsal was held last night for the cast of "Pride and Prejudice," to be presented tonight in the high school auditorium by the speech class, under the direction of Miss Kathryn Meck.

Costumes of the mid-19th century, collected during the weeks of rehearsal, were worn by the players for the first time. Members of the cast of the same play, presented in 1937, have been invited to return for this year's production, which climaxes the year's study by the class.

Japanese Want Gifts, Not Loans

TOKYO—(AP)—A new kind of demand hit Tokyo yesterday. Five thousand municipal workers jammed the city hall courtyard and demanded 10,000 yen ($200) as a present when they get married.

The municipal government lends its workers 3,000 yen ($60) when they marry. That, the demonstrators growled, is not enough. Besides, they said, they do not like to pay it back.

Cut In Steel Prices Is Good Idea

WHATEVER may finally come of it, there is an encouraging note in yesterday's announcement of intended price cuts by the U. S. Steel corporation, which also denies a wage increase demanded by CIO United Steelworkers.

In a statement on the subject, Benjamin F. Fairless, steel corporation president, said: "We, in United States Steel, believe that costs and prices in general are too high today for the good of the nation. We are firmly of the conviction that American industry and labor should co-operatively do everything in their power to avoid further increases in costs. . . . "

With that there can be no quarrel—the only catch being the extent to which this drop in the deflationary bucket will influence similar action by others until there is sufficient flow to make a noticeable dent in present high prices all along the line.

Demands for round after round of wage increases have been based almost entirely on rising costs of necessities and luxuries common to American standards of living, and it seems reasonable to assume that any substantial lowering of prices would tend to bring wage readjustments commensurate with decreased living costs.

The steel industry offers a good starting place, but the movement toward lower prices must be vastly expanded before the battle against inflation can be regarded as having been won.

Welcome To Mansfield, SAR Visitors

IT IS MANSFIELD'S privilege and pleasure, this week end, to welcome the 58th annual conference of the Ohio society, Sons of the American Revolution, with sessions at the Mansfield-Leland hotel opening today and continuing through noon tomorrow.

Selection of Mansfield as this year's conference city provides a fitting climax to the term during which John T. Shook, Mansfield resident, has faithfully and efficiently served as president of the Ohio society, SAR, a deserved recognition of Mr. Shook's active interest in the organization's local Constitution chapter.

Emphasis on patriotic Americanism, to which the SAR is devoted, is seen in the subjects of addresses during the conference and also in the awards to be made in a contest in which entrants give a short oration on some historical subject.

Noteworthy in plans for entertainment of conference attendants is the co-operation being given by Mansfield's two chapters, Daughters of the American Revolution, an organization based on like qualifications for membership, which is restricted to lineal descendants of an ancestor who rendered actual service in the cause of American independence during the Revolutionary period.

The News-Journal feels sure that visitors for this occasion will be favorably impressed by Mansfield hospitality and by the desirability of this city as a meeting place for state groups, also that their pleasant recollections of the Mansfield conference will be such as to make them wish to come here again and again.

'Check Into' What? Chief Schwab

QUESTIONED by a News-Journal reporter about the return of commercialized gambling to Mansfield, after a two-months' ban which he had announced would be "permanent," Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab is quoted as having had no better reply than "I'll check into it."

"Check into" what? Does Chief Schwab mean that he will take a look around to find out if gambling devices have returned to Mansfield store counters? Any school kid can tell him that!

Or does he mean that he will "check into" the law to learn if there is any legal ban on commercialized gambling? The city solicitor, the prosecuting attorney, or any lawyer can enlighten him on that subject.

Or possibly he means that he will again "check into" his understanding that he had full authority, as chief of police, to enforce anti-gambling laws without interference from "higher-ups" or from outside pressure groups.

Whatever it is that Chief Schwab intends to "check into," the present situation seems to deserve a more thorough "checking into" than appears likely from city authorities, and resort to a grand jury investigation—such as has produced startling disclosures in some other parts of the state—may soon be regarded as proper procedure here.

'Unique,' That's the Word For It

TOMORROW'S THE DAY! The Richland county fairgrounds is the place—10 a. m. is the starting time. "What?," you ask—just as if you didn't already know—for this is the event that's being talked about all over Richland county . . . the auction sale of all sorts of things, with the entire proceeds to go into development of the Richland Rural Life Center, for which a site has been chosen in Weller township.

In addition to the attraction of an auction sale, this event will offer opportunity for a social get-together by Mansfielders and county residents, and if the weather is favorable a large crowd is confidently expected . . . with such a wide range of contributed articles as to appeal to everyone.

Intended use of proceeds—to establish a county-wide recreational, educational and character-building center—is such as to make widespread appeal, not only in volume of donations but also in stimulating bidding.

There'll be a rummage sale in addition to the general auction, also a bazaar at which a variety of handiwork will be for sale—and, of course, a lunch stand. It looks like one of those occasions of which it can be said afterward, "a good time was had by all."

Commenting on what is called "slow gin", one voice of authority contends that it is much faster than it sounds.

These are pleasant days to shop in Mansfield.

What Some Other People Are Saying

PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI of Italy: "I will consider communist participation in the new government only if the communists disavow 'allegiance to a foreign power,' give up their arms and support the Marshall Plan."

Washington Calling

U. S. Careless In Guarding Security

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE INQUIRY into the Central Intelligence Agency has thus far marked out only one small area of fact. As early as last January, reports were prepared by the agency telling of internal conflict in Colombia and the presence of communist operators. The red light was flashed well in advance.

Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter, head of CIA, took the unusual step of making public secret intelligence reports in order to establish this point. How much it means is something else again.

The truth is that intelligence reports, no matter how detailed and complete, are of little value if they are not properly analyzed and interpreted by top authority, with top decisions based on the ablest interpretation of what is taking shape.

Obviously President Truman, judging from his offhand press-conference remarks, knew nothing of the CIA reports on Colombia.

What this comes down to, as has been said in this space before, is coordination and an end to internal rivalries and suspicions in this all-important field. The lack of real coordination is a matter for serious concern. Here are two examples.

* * *

In Case of Doubt.

A FOREIGNER who desires to visit America must apply for a visa at an American consulate in the country in which he lives. A visa may be refused for security reasons. Thus a consulate would refuse a visa to a known communist organizer.

But the names of doubtful applicants are never, or only rarely, referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, responsible under law for this country's internal security. Nor is there any evidence that immigration officials, who take over at the port of entry under the department of justice, are consulted in advance about doubtful applicants.

Clearly this is inefficient. It must inevitably leav loopholes through which agents may enter the country. But also it works on occasion to make America look ridiculous.

Thus Madame Irene Joliot-Curie, the French physicist whose husband, Dr. Frederic Joliot-Curie, is a member of the French Communist party, was given a visa to visit the United States. When she landed in this country, she was held by immigration officials at Ellis Island for 24 hours before being finally admitted.

The result was sensational headlines. And Madame Joliot-Curie and her friends in his country, including Albert Einstein, felt she had been insulted.

If this famous scientist's political beliefs should have barred her from the U. S., which I do not believe to be the case, then she should have been denied a visa at the outset.

Example No. 2 involves a more far-reaching issue. Nearly two years ago, before our relations with the Soviet Union had deteriorated to their present low point, the state department approved a request from Moscow for a group of Soviet engineers to tour the United States.

Their announced objective was to study the water systems of U. S. cities so they could return and help direct the construction of modern systems in Russia. One of the agencies concerned with national security protested strongly against permitting the visit.

This protest was ruled out. The Russian engineers inspected the complicated engineering works by which pure water is brought great distances to such cities as New York and Los Angeles. They returned home with drawings and blueprints of what they had seen.

* * *

Sabotage Made Easy.

WITH sabotage an accepted technique of world communism, this episode requires no interpretation. The existence of vast cities, dependent on complicated and costly mechanisms for the essentials of life, is one of the chief reasons this country is so vulnerable to direct and indirect attack.

Here plainly was an issue to be resolved by top authority capable of appraising all the factors—both the concern of agencies responsible for security and the problem of building a constructive foreign policy.

It means a degree of political understanding — using the word political in its broadest sense — very rare in Washington.

Even more important, it means the creation, in Congress and the country, of a confidence that decisions are being taken in the over-all interests of American security. Naturally this will involve great risks in a time such as we are living through. Even in a police state, such as Russia is today, absolute security is a phantom that destroys while it deceives.

Viewing the National Scene

German Cartels Reviving

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WE EMERGED victorious from history's most devastating war less than three years ago with some hopes that are fast fading in the confusion that grips Europe today.

Russia has become the chief factor in this confusion. That is unfortunate, for this has permitted interests here to exploit the "Red menace" to hamstring our original objectives and to becloud the minds of the American public about vital issues.

This is particularly true in the case of Germany. One of our hopes was that the great German industrial monopolies, or cartels, which were the sinister power behind Adolf Hitler and provided the sinews of war, were to be broken up and that the real war lords who directed them, the industrialists, were to be stripped of their control.

Their influence ramified far beyond Germany into the rest of Europe and even into Great Britain and the United States through ties with big business and finance.

Our hope has been confounded. Many of the powerful German financial and industrial figures are back in key places due to our lenient policy, which now receives encouragement through the seductive propaganda to build up a "strong Germany" against Russia.

A few weeks ago, our lenient policy came to its inevitable climax, a shocking climax in contrast with the objectives we professed at the end of the war. General Lucius D. Clay, administrator of the United States zone, virtually annulled the law passed in February, 1947 for breaking up the German cartels.

Too little note has been taken of this development which becomes most important now, because of the European recovery program, beyond its obvious significance otherwise. ERP embraces Germany.

The question naturally arises as to whether our economic help is to be employed to revive, restore and entrench the rulers of the great cartels that were used to try to destroy us and which, if once again in authority, would seek to renew the control they formerly exercised over the economy and politics of Europe.

* * *

Revealed By Protest.

WILL the influence that ERP gives us as the benefactor be directed to force Great Britain and France, which are under heavy obligations to us, to fall in line with the policy now seemingly espoused by us?

Great Britain, which has the heaviest concentration of industry in her zone, including the Ruhr, hitherto has been more zealous than we have in breaking up the cartels, while public opinion in France is dead-set against any revival of the monster that swept down upon her twice in a quarter of a century.

The Clay order came to light through a protest against it to the general by 19 members of the decartelization branch of the American military government.

The decartelization branch was informed of the new order at a meeting at which Richardson Bronson, its head, read excerpts from a memorandum which he said had been approved in principle by the state department.

In their protest, the 19 staff members said: "It appeared to be the unanimous opinion of the staff of the decartelization branch, or at least no contrary opinions were expressed, that the order given by Mr. Bronson excludes from decartelization the principal group of monopolistic enterprises which the law says must be eliminated."

As Cerf Tells It

"Heaven help me," wailed a stricken telephone operator. "My brother has three feet." "What are you talking about?" asked a friend. "He tells it himself in this letter," said the operator. "See? 'Since you saw me last, sis, I've grown three feet.'"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nazi Munitions Factories To Be Spared

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A damaging piece of paper has just been found in Germany. It is a memo, written during the war, asking authorization to erect a new crematorium big enough to burn 40 bodies daily at the Auschwitz slave-labor camp run by I. G. Farben.

This evidence is expected to clinch the guilt of I. G. Farben directors for their war guilt in helping to kill thousands of laborers drafted by Hitler from occupied Europe.

But just as this evidence was uncovered, a strange thing happened in Nuremburg. Gen. Telford Taylor, hardworking war-crimes prosecutor, got instructions to come home. Taylor, at first, demurred, but Washington insisted. Just out of the hospital after an airplane accident, Taylor obeyed orders and is now back in the USA.

Simultaneously, certain highly placed defense chiefs have started a quiet drive to save both the factories and the personnel of I. G. Farben, the Krupps and other big Nazi munitions-makers.

This is probably the most significant development in Germany today.

* * *

Gen. Clay Overruled.

THE SHIFT in policy, it's important to note, comes direct from Washington. Gen. Lucius Clay, U. S. commander in Germany, has had nothing to do with it. In fact, he refused to sign one directive ordering the big munitions cartels exempt from decartelization.

After the war, it was unanimous Allied policy (1) that the big munitions plants should be broken up, (2) that Nazi munitions masters be punished for war guilt. This was not the Morgenthau plan, but was agreed on by such men as Eisenhower, Secretary of War Stimson and his successor, Secretary of War Patterson. They disagreed with Morgenthau that Germany should become an agricultural state, but they were emphatic that the big war plants be broken up, also that munitions-makers guilty of plotting war be punished.

For, in 1932, it was the Krupps, the Thyssens, and the Ruhr industrialists who gave Hitler the money to take over Germany.

* * *

Wall Street and Germany.

INCIDENTALLY, it was also the Wall Street firm of Dillon, Read and Company, of which James V. Forrestal was head, that loaned a lot of money to these same munitions-makers.

Today, Forrestal is secretary of national defense, William H. Draper, former vice president of Dillon, Read, is undersecretary of the army, while Paul Nitze, another vice president of Dillon, Read, holds a key economic job in the state department.

Finally, Phillip Hawkins, son-in-law of Dillon, Read partner Draper, is chief of the property division of the American military government in Germany and is the man who wrote the new memo decreeing a change in policy toward I. G. Farben and the nazi cartels. This was the memo which General Clay refused to sign.

One year ago, when he was a brigadier general serving under Clay in Germany, Draper gave a talk to visiting American business executives criticising U. S. policy of breaking up Nazi cartels. On learning of this talk, Clay reprimanded Draper.

Today, Draper is no longer subordinate to General Clay. He is now undersecretary of the army working directly under his old Wall Street partner, Forrestal, where he, himself, can set policy. Furthermore, Draper's son-in-law, Phil Hawkins, is in Germany in charge of carrying out economic policy toward the nazi munitions-makers which Dillon, Read once helped finance.

The Forrestal-Draper group argue that war plants in Germany are needed to prepare for possible war with Russia. But General Clay and Chief of Staff Omar Bradley warn that if Russia attacks she will take all of Germany in a few days. Thus nazi war plants, rebuilt with U. S. help, would then become the priceless property of the Red Army.

War Notes.

RUSSIA is reported to be producing better war tanks than the United States . . . Large American air bases are being built located for flights across the Arctic. They have underground hangars and the longest runways in the world . . . Believe it or not, but the Armed Services still have scarcely begun stockpiling strategic war materials. $275,000,000 has been set aside for this, but little has been done. Some congressmen are beginning to ask Secretary Forrestal whether he plans to draft men, but not mobilize the factories and materials to supply them arms . . . National defense officials have decided to give top priority to the construction of 14 underground factories covering essential industries. These factories, all large in size, would be used to continue basic arms production in case American industry was atom-bombed . . . Ken Galbraith, one of the top New Deal economists, has been retained by Secretary Forrestal as a special consultant to work on the mobilization program . . . Secretary of Defense Forrestal's aides have already begun drafting a $16,000,000,000 further expansion of the national defense budget. It will include (1) reopening of all major Army bases, (2) building of additional aircraft and arms plants, and (3) taking about half the fleet out of moth balls.

Diplomatic Pouch.

DATE of the Big 3 conference between Marshall, Bevin and Bidault is being delayed until President Truman decides to ask for a new lend-lease act. The Big 3 want this conference to end with concrete guarantees to small nations that they will have arms from the USA to resist Russia . . . Last week the state department received new arms appeals from Belgium, France, Italy, Norway, Denmark, Luxemburg and the Netherlands. If they have to fight Russia, they want arms. However, President Truman is holding up a request to Congress for a new lend-lease act . . . U. S. representatives at the United Nations doubt that the United States can muster the two-thirds vote required to reverse partition of Palestine.

Assignment: America

Troubled By 'Ghost-osis'

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors who were here last week to attend their annual convention were exposed to two of the most vicious diseases which ravage capital reporting.—They are "ghost-osis" and "off-the-record-itis."

Most of the visiting editors, of course, had lived through literal epidemics of two maladies at one time or another in their careers, and some still were being exposed to both every day back home.

But in few places in the country have the contagions spread to the extent they have in Washington.

The recent convention exposures came in two classic, almost simultaneous examples — from President Harry Truman.

Addressing a total of more than eight hundred persons, including the editors, their guests and regular Washington correspondents, the President delivered a fairly lengthy prepared speech.

Then he went "off the record" and talked for another fifteen minutes or so.

Never was the effect of "ghost-osis" more clearly demonstrated. It was as though two different men had been speaking. The first was the lecturer, the actor, the man reading from a prepared script. The second was a sincere person, talking from the heart and holding his audience with every slow, thoughtful word he uttered.

Although the President undoubtedly edited and approved his official speech, there was no doubt—from the choice of phraseology—that it was largely ghost-written. Equally obvious was the fact that his impromptu speech was couched in terms of his own choosing.

The difference in applause alone left not the slightest doubt that the audience vastly preferred the words of Harry Truman to those of his ghost-writers. Further, it gave many of them their first real glimpse into the mind of the man who was their President.

* * *

Has Different Sound.

TYPICAL was the response of a southern editor with whom this correspondent had discussed the President only a few weeks before. He had insisted Truman was a certain type of individual. I disagreed. He quoted phrases from speech after speech to prove his point. But still I insisted that the President was an entirely different person than the words of those speeches indicated. He laughed at my naivete, and we parted on that note.

After the President's off-the-record remarks, the editor said: "I see what you meant. The man should talk that way all the time."

And most of the people who heard him agreed.

But while "ghost-osis" makes it difficult for the people of the country to really know the men who are their leaders, equally deadly is this "off-the-record-itis."

For example, when the President said his impromptu speech was off the record, he merely meant that it was not to be printed. He did not mean that his listeners could not repeat what they had heard to others.

As a result, those eight hundred who heard him have been happily telling friends and acquaintances what he said. It is quite safe to say that thousands of people now know almost exactly what he said during that unofficial fifteen-minute speech. Which makes it rather ridiculous that the rest of the country—and the world—should not also know.

As a matter of fact, although those present will keep their word, eventually it will be printed and it will be broadcast—by someone who was not even present.

When such stories are passed far enough by word-of-mouth, eventually the tellers forget to repeat that they are relating off-the-record stuff. Or else they tell it as rumors. In any case, it sounds good to the guy who wasn't there.

A NEW half dollar will be out soon and the treasury says "there will be enough for everyone" . . . This is the best news since the Townsend plan chilled.

In fact it will be the first time the United States started manufacturing money that there ever was "enough for everyone."

Stop Being 'Sensitive'!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE MOST irritating form of egotism is sensitiveness. It's bad enough to go around picking up the bouquets and saying they were meant for you but it's far worse to collect the brickbats and label them with your own trade mark.

The worst thing about sensitiveness is that so many really nice people believe in it. They boast about it. You'd think it was a Congressional Medal to hear them tell it. And they're sincere. They truly think that other folks are "always picking on them."

As a matter of fact, most people are too busy with their own chores to waste their time thinking up some cussedness or playing tricks.

Actually most sensitiveness is just another form of conceit. We're so busy thinking about ourselves, coddling ourselves, that we magnify every mole hill into a mountain.

To be truthful, very few people even notice us. They go their busy way and if we get shoved around that's just our bad luck.

But generally speaking, most folks are kindly critters, ready to lend a helping hand if they can, quick with a warming smile. And the last thing they desire is to hurt their neighbor.

Stop this detestable form of self admiration. Stop making a target of yourself. Not one person out of a thousand is noticing you, much less trying to harm you.

You've cooked up the whole mess in your own imagination. Try cooking up a smile now and then and see what a difference it will make.

Ever Pray For A Miracle?

Her husband's out in the waiting room now.

Waiting to see if they can stop Cancer from eating out her life. Trying to believe she has a chance. Praying for a miracle.

This time they discovered Cancer in time —and he'll be able to take her home.

They're performing many a miracle like this one in hospitals all over the country.

But the great miracle millions are praying for is that science will find a cure for all Cancer. Last year Cancer killed more than 188,000. Sooner or later it reaches, on the average, into every other home in America. It takes the young as quickly as the old—the rich as surely as the poor.

A cure is not too much to hope for. Keep science searching and it will find a cure.

So the next time you see a Cancer donation box, remember it's your chance to buy protection for your friends, your family or perhaps yourself.

Every time you give to the Cancer Fund you help someone live. Your dimes and dollars help buy more X-Ray and surgical equipment . . . support laboratory projects to study Cancer . . . help speed hundreds of scientists in the race to conquer Cancer.

So give with both fists. Fight Cancer with every dollar you can spare!

MANSFIELD CIVIC CLUB AWARDED STATE HONOR

Officers of Philanthropic Organization Receive Prize for Sale of Articles Made By the Blind.

By OLIVE GRESMER

"SMALL but mighty" should be the slogan adopted for the Mansfield Civic club.

Four very surprised and pleased members of this tiny club walked away with honors Thursday at the state meeting of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Columbus.

Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, president of the club, which has been affiliated with the state federation for the past 12 years, received a check for over $100 as first prize for the highest sale of articles made by the blind. This was in the "small club group" classification, which means a membership of under 50.

Mansfield civic clubs total sale during the past year was $561.57. Niles, Ohio, club won second with a total of $423.78. There are 520 Ohio clubs affiliated with the state federation with an average membership of 25.

This accomplishment would be quite noteworthy for a large group but it's taken only seven very active women to carry out this state-wide project. Members of the philanthropic organization are Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Joseph Johnston, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, vice president, Mrs. C. H. Henkel, a past president: Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. Elmer Post, chairman of the sale held each year for the blind of Ohio, and Mrs. Fred Nixon.

The small band of women, who have worked so conscientiously during the past 12 years, meet the first Monday of each month at the Women's club to further their work on city projects and their state activities. On Feb. 14 of each year they give a dinner and party for the children of the Sunshine school. Contributions are given to the Richland County Home and the Children's Home. They also supply magazines, chair and couch covers for the restrooms at the courthouse.

City and county campaigns, such as the Cancer Fund, Red Cross, Community fund and other funds are also backed by the group. All this is possible by the money they receive as prize from the state federation.

In their 12 years of organization they have missed only three years as winner. The first week of December each year they hold a sale of articles made by the blind at the R. B. Maxwell store, in cooperation with the state commission for the blind. Merchandise is sent from the headquarters in Columbus under the direction of Mrs. Janet V. Barnes, state sales manager.

The blind receive all but the actual cost of making the article. $22,000 was the total receipts for the past year which is a decided increase from the first year's return of $3,000. Prize money is not taken from these receipts but from the federation treasury.

Over 1500 women attend the three-day annual convention held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Columbus. Official hostesses were members of the state executive board, assisted by Columbus federation.

Mansfield is included in the middle-north district of the federation and the local women participated in the luncheon and meeting held Thursday noon at the hotel. Mrs. Eugene D. Merkel of Wooster is president of this group. They will convene for a business session in October in Willard. The next state convention is scheduled for Toledo. Mansfield was the scene of the first convention of the federation in 1895.

Seven Mansfield clubs are affiliated with the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs. These are Mansfield Civic club, Conversational, Mansfield Sorosis, Tourist, Victorian, Round Table and Beta chapter, Sorosis.

Mrs. Middleton is chairman of the Ohio Federation Fund for the Control of Cancer. Mrs. Virt Simpson of the Beta chapter, Sorosis, is committee woman for this district on vocational guidance and Mrs. Elmer Post of the Mansfield Civic club is committeewoman on federation extension and organization.

Mrs. Milo Hieber, representing the Mansfield Sorosis club, was in attendance at the Wednesday session.

Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, president of the Mansfield Civic club, receives a check as first prize for the sale of articles made by the blind, from Mrs. Janet V. Barnes of Columbus, state sales manager for the blind commission. Presentation was made at the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs held in Columbus yesterday. Pleased spectators are Mrs. Joseph Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the local club, Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, vice president, and Mrs. C. H. Henkel, a past president.

Carolyn Cox, William Colby Feted at Parties This Week

SISTERS and a sister-in-law of Miss Carolyn Cox, bride-elect of William Colby, entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. John Catlett, 1023 Woodland road, with a spinster dinner.

Associate hostesses were Mrs. Robert Beard, Mrs. Albert Allen jr., Wooster and Mrs. Rupert Cox jr.

Dinner was served at two long tables. The honoree's table was centered with a miniature bride carrying a gardenia which was presented to Miss Cox. Candles lighted the table. A bouquet of jonquils centered the other table.

Bouquets of jonquils and Japonica were placed throughout the home.

During the evening the 15 guests made a bride's book for Miss Cox who will be married Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in an open church service at the First English Lutheran church.

The guests showered the bride-elect with personal gifts.

Mrs. Coleman Todd entertained for Miss Cox Tuesday night with a Good Advice shower. The party was in the Todd home, Park avenue west.

Bridge was the diversion and three tables were in play. With each traveling prize was a note of advice from one of the guests. Prizes were won by Mrs. Catlett and Miss Charlotte Paste.

Spring flowers decorated the home and the serving table was centered with silver candelabra and white flowers and appointments. Mrs Robert Nichols presided.

Rupert Cox jr. entertained Tuesday evening in his home, 29?? South Mulberry street, with a bachelor party for Mr. Colby. Coleman Todd, A L Allen, Merrill Swigart and Robert Pittenger joined the two men for an informal evening after which steak dinners were served to the party.

Library Book Tells How Three Little Steps Found Treasure

Jim, Ginger and Johnny are THREE LITTLE STEPS. Jim is the top step, Ginger the middle step and Johnny is the littlest step. The Steps are three little children. One morning they went out to dig, and what do you think happened? They found a treasure! The three little Steps had three ideas about how the treasure got there See which you think is right. One book about the Steps isn't enough, so we have two The other one is SURPRISE FOR THREE LITTLE STEPS and is even nicer than the first one Both books were written by Charlotte Becker and will be ready for you Saturday morning at the Library.

We have two other nice books that seem to go together this week. These were bought especially for the third, fourth and fifth graders who like books about real pepple. We already have a lot. Here are some more. POCAHONTAS by Flora Seymour is the story of a brave little Indian girl Her name means "Playful Girl" and she certainly lived up to it. Sometimes she played tricks on her brother, and sometimes even on the grown-ups I bet she never played any on her father, stern Powhatan, chief of the tribe. Imagine how Pocahontas felt when she first saw white men, and thought their big boats were magic. Do you know what happened to her when she grew up?

YOUNG AUDUBON, BOY NATURALIST is by Miriam Mason and tells about Jean Audubon, who loved flowers, birds, insects and such like more than anything almost. In fact, when his father told him he was to go to France and have a new mother Jean asked, "Will I see the swallows there"? When he became a man he knew so much about plants and animals that he was known all over the world.

Here is a book we should have had two months ago when we had the Doll Contest. You girls who read every doll book in the Library then can now have a new one. BIG SUSAN by Elizabeth Orton Jones is the story of a doll house, and of the dolls who lived inside it. Big Susan wouldn't seem so big to you but think how big she looked to her dolls They loved Susan, they were glad when she played with them, because that was the only time they could move around or talk. You know Susan had to move them and talk for them The dolls grew very lonely when Susan didn't come to see for them for a long time They grew tired of staying in the same place. Then, one miraculous day, they could move and talk by themselves without Susan. The thing they planned was the nicest thing in the whole wide world and made Susan happier than anything else could have done.

Barney Bolt was a boxer, quite a famous boxer, even though he was only a young man of college age. When he arrived at State college he had things pretty well figured out Of course State would be mighty glad to have a famous athlete there. Everyone would fall all over himself to be nice to him, all the fraternities would run after him and he'd soon be a campus big shot. The only catch was that it didn't happen as he had figured it. He seemed to get off on the wrong foot, had a fight in the station and in less time than it took to turn around he was plain "poison" to everyone on campus GRIDIRON CHALLENGE by Jackson Scholtz will tell you why Barney was what he was and how he worked out his problem and finally won acceptance and friendship

Horoscope

For Saturday, April 24

Although there are excellent prospects of growth, expansion, increase of prospects and accumulation of all sorts of assets, resources, possession and opportunities, yet as well there is sign of a block, impediment or depression of a stubborn kind, threatening delay, stagnations or utter disappointment This restrictive condition may incite the energies to rash, wild and impetuous move, or a wild effort to Latter down opposition, but it also adds stress and rancour to a difficult situation Keep calm and composed, moving with determination and ingenuity rather than force.

Those whose birthday it is may find the year offering exceptional openings for growth, expansion, increased assets, resources and tangible property and fulfilled ambitions Yet a static or congested situation may arise, with obstacles, delays and postponements Such may incite, to rash and intemperate ways and means for battering down such opposition with dire results and accompanied by personal resentments, strife and lasting regret A restrained and composed attitude might prove more effective

A child born on this day may have many opportunities for an adventurous, constructive, and honored career, but a wayward and immoderate attack upon conflicting or antagonistic forces may prove its detriment

Bad Breakfasts May Lead To Divorce

Many family quarrels and even divorces are the fault of skimpy breakfasts, Victor H Lindlahr, noted food commentator, declared today.

Morning grouches are often wrongly blamed on "getting up on the wrong side of the bed" instead of their real cause, a poor morning meal, according to an article by Lindlahr in the March Journal of Living

After a twelve-hour stretch without food, the body machinery is running at low speed and needs refueling. A good start for the day ought to include fruit, toast or cereal and a hot beverage But in addition, Lindlahr urges eating a protein food such as eggs or milk Protein, says Lindlahr, has a quality called "specific dynamic action" which stimulates a quick burst of energy. This real surge of pep helps to clear the cobwebs from the brain and supply a glow of satisfaction.

Women especially might do themselves a lot of good with a heartier breakfast, insists Lindlahr Taking care of a house and family is a hard job which can't be done on the coffee-and-toast breakfasts most women eat. Irritability, often due to nothing more than hunger, makes for arguments which may eventually lead to serious quarrels.

Cancer Clinic: Simple, Casual Way to Save Lives!

(Editor's Note: Nita Branson, of The News-Journal editorial staff, went through the cancer detection and diagnostic clinic at General Hospital specifically to bring you this story. Along with clinic officials, she felt that many persons were shying away from a needed examination just because they were unfamiliar with the simple procedure at the clinic. Her story should convince any reader that there is nothing to dread about these examinations which can save many lives of cancer victims and ease the minds of those who are worrying about cancer symptoms).

* * *

By NITA BRANSON

If you are one of those persons who would like to go through the cancer detection and diagnostic clinic at General hospital, but have been a bit "squeamish" about it, let me tell you:

"There's nothing to it."

I know. I went through the clinic myself. And I was a bit surprised at how easily and casually it is done. Here is my story . . .

In the first place getting an appointment is easy. You merely call Mrs. M. K. Leggett, staff secretary, at 2291-6, give your name and address. She looks in her black book, finds the earliest possible date and the appointment is yours.

The only trouble is that it may be two months away. Today, the appointment book is filled through July 20.

There are no embarrassing questions to answer. All the information is obtained so gradually that you feel no "personal prying."

On the night given you, you enter the hospital auditorium to wait your turn. Mrs. Leggett sees you again, asks you a few more non-embarrassing questions and you are on your way.

"On your way" means that you enter a little cubicle off the X-ray room, which for the night has been turned into a clinic. There you don a hospital gown, putting your clothes in a basket.

Did you ever see a row of women robed in hospital gowns? If you have, you know that immediately one dons one of those white sheet-looking things, you lose your identity.

Immediately, you become just another case. You may retain your individualism in your own bedroom wearing a maribou trimmed satin negligee, but you lose all the glamour you ever had in a hospital gown. And, comforting thought, you also lose much of your sensitiveness about the whole thing.

Your first step after getting into one of the "things" tied in the back is to be interviewed by a physician. He takes your blood pressure, taps your chest and back and asks you a few more questions. Now you're ready for the big job.

You join the waiting line of hospital gowns—one of a dozen or more women who are similarly robed and similarly denuded of personality.

"Next," calls the nurse. You walk into the examination room with a little personal nervousness, particularly if you happen to be one of those women whose bodies are so sensitively tuned that an examination is an ordeal.

But don't be afraid. You'll find the attending specialist the essence of consideration and gentleness. He is there to help you.

If his verdict is "All clear" you get up off the examination table with your head high and your heart light. For another six months at least, you can walk proudly with the knowledge that all is well with you physically.

★ ★ ★

But suppose the attending physician has found "something wrong"? What happens? Immediately you are put in the way of proper treatment through your family physician. Within a week, both you and your physician get a complete report. If you need treatment, it starts at once. No treatment is given by the clinic. Its sole purpose is to detect and diagnose cancer symptoms.

But suppose you find, as most women are finding out now, that their appointment is two months off and yet you feel that something is "not quite right."

"Go see your family physician at once," is the advice of Dr. W. E. Wygant. "Don't wait for the clinic. If you find a slight lesion (lump to the unitiated) or have a discharge of any kind, get to your family physician as quickly as possible. There is no time to wait in that case."

Don't think for a minute that the clinic is begging for patients. It has so many now that, like the old woman who lived in the shoe, it "doesn't know what to do."

"If we get enough money, we'll open the clinic a second night," say staff officials

They didn't say it but the successful continuance of the clinic depends in large part on the willingness of Mansfielders to meet their quota of $24,000 in the current campaign of the American Cancer society. Part of the money raised in the drive will go to pay for operation and expansion of the clinic where 470 were examined in a six-months' period.

The cost for this thorough diagnosis? Just $5—if you have it. If not, it makes no difference. You're given the same clinic examination as the man or woman who pays. It is one point in particular that clinic officials want stressed.

"So many times," they say, "the men and women who can't afford to pay, are the very ones who need the diagnosis the most. If you haven't the $5, make your appointment anyway. No one will know about it except you and the secretary."

Liquor Advertising Claims Make Congressman Hot Under Collar

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Fred Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., has a two-ply hobby which takes up most of his spare time.

He spends half his leisure collecting liquor advertisements, and the rest getting mad at 'em.

The congressman from the Wolverine state fetched his hobby—both parts—to the marbeled, red-plush caucus room of the Senate office building. There he dumped it on the witness table and sat down before the Senate interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee. The members are considering several bills which the authors contend would force the liquor people to follow "an honest" code in their advertising.

The man from Michigan stroked his bald head, fixed his red tie, and began. He made it clear that he had no quarrel with blended whisky, but added he thought it was cheap and shouldn't be misrepresented.

"Do you mean cheap in price?" asked Sen. Francis J. Myers, of Pennsylvania.

"No," snapped Crawford "In quality."

Not only that, he went on, the distillers cheat in their advertising. "Fraudulent, deceptive, misleading." He used those words. Then he named a few names, picking on what he called "the four horsemen."

He listed these as Schenley, Seagram, National Distillers, and Hiram Walker. He didn't have many nice things to say about any of them.

A lot of the distillers, Crawford said, try to give you the impression that you are getting the benefit of their century or so of experience — and then pawn off a blend on you.

In the old days, he continued, you used an oak barrel to age the liquid and eliminate the impurities, but you put good whisky in the barrel in the first place.

★

"Even the barrel which used to cost a dollar and a half now costs $20 and they don't use it for blends, I don't think."

"There ought to be a law," whooped Fred. "Such stuff is a disgrace to the distilling industry!"

The advertising folks will get a chance to defend themselves at hearings later.

Crusading Newsmen Risk Lives, Reputations to Reveal Truth

SOLDIERS OF THE PRESS—There has never been a mightier journalistic expose than the Teapot Dome explosion. However, it wasn't beer and skittles for the reporter who originally uncovered the evidence about the gigantic swindle. His family was the victim of threats; he was plastered with libel suits, ridiculed, often assaulted, railroaded to jail and involved in a manslaughter case—all a result of his attempt to make public the facts about the fabulous rooking.

But this newspaperman continued battling until justice caught up with the culprits. His name (take off your hat!) was Carl Magee.

Fuddy-duddies in and out of journalism have always endeavored to shackle newsmen who spearheaded crusades. They turn pallid at the thought of spotlighting brutal truths. They hoot at the reputations of fighting reporters. They would rather remain mum about the indecencies that burden their city, country or world.

The best retort to such attitudes is one editor's comment: "Truth is violated by falsehood and it may be outraged by silence!"

★

Ink-stained warriors who lead journalistic battles seldom romp away with any decorations, except the inner knowledge that they are doing something worthwhile. . . . Some time ago reporters on a St. Paul paper risked their necks by exposing and driving out of town (or into jails) the gangsters who were making that burg their base of operations. The paper's victorious struggle made citizens more secure and saved taxpayers' coin

But what was the pay-off? Shortly after the gazette was forced out of existence because it was unable to attract enough readers!

★

Don Mellett engraved his name on journalism's roll of honor. He was editor of the Canton (Ohio) News, which exposed the affiliations between gangsters and the city gov't. He carried on his exposes despite threats of strong-armers. One day Don Mellett was ambushed and killed.

Incidentally, this courageous journalist was the brother of columnist Iowell Mellett, one of F. D. R.'s most loyal aides.

Court Fines Smith $700; Orders Bond

Admits Two Charges Of Liquor Violation

Earl H. Smith, Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined a total of $700 today after he pleaded guilty in municipal court to two counts of state liquor law violations. He also was ordered to post $1,000 bond as a guard against recurrence of the violations.

The bond was ordered posted for an indefinite period of time by Judge H. H. Schettler.

He explained that inasmuch as this was Smith's second conviction on a charge of keeping a place where intoxicating liquor is sold, it was mandatory for the court to order the bond posted or to require that Smith's Bowman road place be closed and padlocked.

Smith was fined $300 and costs for illegal sale and $400 for being a keeper of a place where intoxicating liquor is sold.

Smith was arrested by state liquor department agents Sunday afternoon in a barn on Bowman road. His attorney entered the plea of guilty in his behalf.

10-MINUTE CASE

The case was disposed of in less than 10 minutes after the court heard a short statement from one of the liquor department agents.

Smith, who has already paid the state $1,700 for state liquor law violations, has a record of convictions extending back to March 6, 1936 when he was fined $500 and costs and was given 30 days in the county jail, 20 of which were suspended, for illegal sale.

In April, 1939 he was convicted of having possession of liquor for illegal sale and was fined $500. Six years later he was convicted on charges similar to those on which he was convicted today and was fined a total of $700.

At the time of his last conviction, Smith was operating at a private house near the steel mill. After the building was destroyed by fire, Smith moved to the Bowman road barn

Fellowcraft Club to Meet

The Fellowcraft club of Mansfield lodge No. 35, F. and A. M., will hold a ladies' night party at the Temple Saturday

The activities will begin with a dinner at 7 o'clock, followed by entertainment and a social evening.

A CHEW FOR CHILDREN—Bert Earnshaw, president of the Kiwanis club, spends a penny for the first ball of gum as the club launches a project to place several hundred ball gum machines in Mansfield as a means of raising money to further its child welfare work. Captains of teams assigned to obtain permission to place the machines in stores and factories watch as Earnshaw drops a coin into the machine. Seventy-five of the machines were placed the first day of the project. Seated, left to right: Earnshaw, Allen Knapp, Harry Sowash. Standing, R. L. Alger, Willis Carto, chairman of the gum machine project; Nick White, Otho McCormick, Harold Balyeat, Richard Stander and Max Worthley. HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Herbert S. (Tubby) Jones, Mansfield architect, was receiving birthday greetings today. Native Mansfielder, he has had a hand in the building of many of Mansfield's public structures. He's busy now with some school buildings and the proposed TB sanatorium. Jones is a charter member of the Rotary club here, a member of the Elks, and a 32nd degree Mason. He is on the board of directors of the Boy Scouts and a member of the Westbrook Country club. His hobby is making guns. He plans to celebrate his birthday by having a lobster with some of his friends tonight.

FLOWER BLANKET—

Mansfield's parks and woodlots are bright with wildflowers which have blossomed earlier because of the warm days early in April. Spring beauties, mentioned as Ohio's official flower to replace the carnation, are spreading a pink and white blanket over the woodlands. Dogtooth violets, the common violets, and sweet williams also have popped out of the leaf mold in the woods.

City Hopes To Gain $6,000

County Gets Traffic Funds

City income will be increased approximately $6,000 annually and county revenue will drop the same amount when the city completes and puts into effect a recodification of the traffic laws.

This change will be made possible under a state law which stipulates that money collected from traffic law violators charged under state traffic statutes shall go to the county if the city does not have a duplicate ordinance of the state law.

Under the present system, a fine collected from a person arrested in the city by city police for breaking a state traffic law goes to the county general fund.

The state law provides, however, that if the city has an ordinance duplicating the state law and if the person is charged under that ordinance, then the money shall revert to the city general fund.

When the recodification is complete, Attorney Robert L. Ross, who is assisting City Solicitor C. J. Klabfleisch in the work, said all state traffic laws will be incorporated into the city ordinances and traffic fines will go to the city.

COUNTY GOT $11,847

Income paid the county last year under traffic fines collected under state traffic law violations totaled $11,847, of which $1,506 was paid to the law library. The remainder, $10,341 went in the county fund.

When the city's traffic laws are recodified and all the state traffic statutes are duplicated in the city laws, the major part of that $10,341 will go to the city.

Municipal Court Clerk Ritchie estimated that between 60 and 70 per cent of that amount will go to the city instead of the county. In terms of dollars and cents, the city will get an additional $6,000 to $7,000 and the county will lose a like amount.

Ritchie pointed out, however, that the ability of the alleged traffic law violator to pay must be taken into consideration.

If he can pay, the city will get the money collected in payment of the fine. If, however, the person cannot pay, and is found guilty under a city affidavit, then the city must pay the imprisonment costs, whether the prisoner is in the county jail or the state workhouse.

Under the state law, where there is duplication of city and state law, the arresting officer has the option of charging the suspect under either the statute or the ordinance.

City Warns 'Treenapers'

Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan issued a stern warning to would-be "tree-napers" late yesterday that any further theft of trees from the city's Clear Fork dam area would be prosecuted

Two Bloominggrove residents who took eight young trees from the area Sunday and transplanted them in their yards, yesterday paid the city for the trees after a meeting with the service-safety director in his office.

Morgan warned that anyone else caught taking the trees would not get off so easy

He explained that all the trees not removed by the contractors hired to clear the area are left there for a specific reason. Among other things, he said, the trees will help prevent excessive erosion.

Albert Drake and Ruth Moffet, who took the young pines, were apprehended by city detectives who traced them through license numbers on their cars. They told detectives they took the trees because they believed the area at the dam to be wasteland.

Mrs. Schmunk Dies In Home

Mrs Charlotte Ella Schmunk, 64, wife of Lloyd Schmunk, died last night in her home, 278 Remy avenue, after a lingering illness.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sons, Kenneth C., Paul J., and Raymond W., all of Mansfield, a grandchild, five brothers, William, Daniel, Albert, John and Gust Smith all of Ashland county; four sisters, Mrs. Andrew Easley and Mrs. Emma Hoyer of Loudonville, Mrs Bertha Mahler of Wooster and Mrs. Catherine Moyer of Mansfield.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Monday at 1 p. m in charge of Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home after Saturday evening.

B. and O. Train Schedule Changed

With the change to daylight saving time Sunday in a number of cities, the Baltimore and Ohio train from Wheeling to Chicago through Mansfield will leave here at 11:48 p. m., an hour earlier than under the present schedule, it was announced today.

The eastbound train will continue to leave Mansfield at 5:30 a. m.

The Pennsylvania and Erie railroads previously announced schedule changes, effective Sunday.

Ohio Fuel Needs More Gas, Plans to Add New Consumers

The Ohio Fuel Gas company, supplier of fuel to Mansfield, says it will need 2,400,000,000 more cubic feet of gas for domestic heating this year.

W. T. Shinholser, chief engineer, made that estimate yesterday in testimony before the federal power commission in Washington. He said the firm plans to accept 15,000 additional domestic users in 1948 under authorization of the Ohio Public Utilities commission.

Shinholser said Ohio Fuel Gas hoped to have 33,000,000,000 cubic feet stored in underground fields by Nov. 1. He said lack of pipe is holding up a new 90-mile 20-inch line near Lancaster. This line would connect the United Fuel Gas company and Ohio Fuel lines. Also held up, Shinholser said, is a 20-mile, 20-inch line near Mansfield, which will provide better service to the Toledo area.

The commission did a bit of juggling yesterday under which Ohio Fuel Gas will get an additional 10,500,000 feet a day from Texas Eastern (Big Inch) which had been going to Texas Gas Transmission. Texas Gas will substitute supplies from Tennessee Gas Transmission.

The Ohio utility will receive 19,000,000 feet of Big Inch gas, all the Big Inch supply now going to Panhandle customers. Panhandle, in turn, will decrease deliveries to Ohio Fuel gas a similar amount.

My Request Goes In Wood Memorial

NEW YORK —(UP)— Ben F Whitaker's My Request will be requested to make it three in a row when he goes postward tomorrow against a field of Kentucky Derby eligibles in the $40,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica race track.

The Whitaker color-bearer loomed as a slight favorite for the race, the final New York prep for the run for the roses.

Although My Request will face an expected field of eight, only King Ranch's Better Self and Greentree stable's Kilroy loomed as contenders.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Bruce Edwards Dodgers—Stocky catcher making his first start after being sidelined with a sore arm cracked out two doubles and a single to drive in three runs as Brooklyn whipped the New York Giants 6-3

Tom Tucker Tops Tyger Thinclads

Fine team balance plus a scintillating performance by little Tommy Tucker enabled the Mansfield Senior high school track and field team to romp to a 71-to-47 victory over a strong Newark Wildcat pack yesterday afternoon at Stadium field.

Tucker placed in four events as the Bengal thinclads won their third straight dual meet victory of the campaign. The little ebony speedster copped the 220-yard dash, broad jump and raced the anchor leg of the winning 880-yard relay combine.

SOPHOMORE STARS

In addition, he slid in behind Bob McVey, Newark flash, in the century. Tucker had beaten McVey in the Mansfield Relays 100-yard dash. McVey took seconds to Tucker in the 220 and broad jump. Both of the lads are sophomores.

Tucker was the meet's leading point-gatherer with 14¼ while McVey chipped in with 11.

The only other double winner was Gene Miller, Newark, distance man. He won the mile and 880 handily.

Coach Harry Mehock's Senior high lads won eight of the 14 events, grabbed nine seconds and five thirds.

PULLS SURPRISE

A. C. Jenkins, another sophomore, pulled a surprise in the low hurdles by handing his teammate, Marty Bricker, his first dual meet defeat of the season. However, Bricker did win the 120-yard high sticks.

Sophomore Willie Fowler, Burt Lindsay and the two relay quartets gave Mansfield its other first places. Fowler won the high jump, placed second in the 440 and ran the fourth spot on the mile relay team. He was fourth in the point column with 9¼.

Big Burt won the shot put again and placed second in the discus. He got off his best heave of the season in the latter event.

Hamilton-Toledo Waite Spring Football Game May Decide Massillon Grid Post

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS — This and that from here and there:

More than a football score, perhaps, hinges on the outcome of tonight's football (that's right) game between Hamilton and Toledo Waite high schools at Hamilton.

The two gridiron greats clash in the windup of their spring training grinds, and everyone's looking for as much action as last spring's 33-31 Waite victory produced.

Seated in the stands will be quite a group of fans from Massillon, including Supt. J. L. Smith, giving Hamilton Coach Chuck Mather's system the once-over lightly.

★

Chuck, as everyone knows, has been approached relative to taking the Massillon high coaching job recently vacated by Bud Houghton who moved up to Akron university.

The Tiger throne is the top scholastic spot in Ohio, the coaches believe, but Chuck hasn't given the Stark county school an answer except to ask for a stipend quite a bit above that paid him by the Big Blue.

If his Hamiltons look good enough, maybe Massillon's search for a new mentor will end right after tonight's game—with Massillon meeting Mather's terms.

Fan Fare: If Mather does take over the Massillon job, don't be too surprised if "Nip" Heim of Alliance moves to the Tigers as basketball coach. . . . Barberton's Magics, unbeaten state high school grid champs of 1947, also wind up spring training tonight with the 1948 varsity meeting the seniors. . . . Coach Harry Strobel of the Magics, the coach of the year who will boss the northern all-stars in the scholastic game at Canton later this summer, moves Saturday down to Oxford, O., where he'll take part in Miami U's clinic . . . Mather, who will coach the southern all-stars, also will say a few things at the Red Skin school. . . . Bonnie Mackay, a 15-year-old co-ed, is playing on the boys' varsity tennis team at Wyoming high school near Cincinnati—she uses a two-hand grip on backhand strokes, just like Pancho Segura of Ecudaor. . . . Bill Veeck, Cleveland Indians prexy, is booked solid five nights a week for Ohio talks through July 20, and he accepts only one of eight requests. . . . Neil Schmidt, Bluffton high school all-Ohio grid star, is on Purdue's second team, where the varsity is tagged as the team to beat in the big nine this fall.

Softball Leagues Attract Record Number of Teams

With nearly a month remaining before opening of Mansfield's 1948 softball season, a record number of teams seems assured for league play.

Including the 11 Church loop outfits, 35 teams have signed for play in the five leagues. All leagues will operate under rules set up by the Mansfield softball commission. However, the Church circuit will be under the YMCA program and the other four leagues under the Mansfield department of recreation.

Thirty-five teams competed in 1947 but more are expected this year before the May 10 entry deadline. League competition is listed to begin on May 17.

LEAGUE NIGHTS

Assignment of league nights was made at the annual spring meeting of team managers and officials last night at the YMCA. The schedule follows: Monday, Park league; Tuesday, Independent league: Wednesday, Industrial league; Thursday, Church league and Friday, Club league.

Liberty park entered the Park loop last night while Ritz Nite club dropped out of the Independent wheel.

Managers put one new rule into the softball commission's by-laws last night. The rule follows: "All players must be residents of Richland county or be employed in Richland county for at least 30 days before signing contract to play in Mansfield softball leagues."

Team rosters will include 15 names (a player may play with one team only), which means that approximately 525 athletes have already signed for softball play.

★

The eleven teams in the Church league are: St. Paul's St. Matthew's, Four Square Gospel, St. Luke's, First Lutheran, First Methodist, Park Avenue Baptist, First Presbyterian, Central Methodist, First Christian and B'nai B'rith.

Indians Open Tiger Series

DETROIT —(AP)— Cleveland's Indians open a three-game series today with the Detroit Tigers, one of the clubs they will have to beat out to finish high in the American league scramble this season.

Front-line hurlers of both teams will see action during the series. Tiger Pilot Steve O'Neill is expected to shoot Freddie Hutchinson, young Art Houtteman and Hal Newhouser against the Redskins in that order.

Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau plans to use Bob Lemon today, follow with Bob Feller tomorrow and finish with Al Gettel Sunday.

Softballers Drill

The Greystone softball team will practice tonight at 6 o'clock on the Liberty park diamond. This will be the final drill for tryouts.

Game Elmer Riddle Blanks Cubs

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK —(UP)— To Elmer Riddle, who matched up his dead arm with dead gameness went the accolade of courage today in the infant major league season

Surgeons once told him he had no chance to do any more pitching, but because he wouldn't believe them he was the author of the best game pitched thus far in the National league a two-hit 3 to 0 shutout for the reincarnated Pirates over the Cubs

Not bad for a fellow who had won only four games in four years Riddle, hero of Cincinnati's pennant campaigns of 1939 and 1941, came up with the lame arm after the 1943 season and from 21 wins that year he slumped to two in 1944.

It was worse in 1945 when he had only one victory and he retired from baseball in 1946 He came back last year but was plagued by the same trouble and won only one game The Reds finally gave up but Riddle didn't and after selling himself to the Pirates' new manager, Bill Meyer, it began to look today as if he would be once again living up to his name among National league batters.

Another sore-arm hurler made an encouraging comeback at New York where Dodger sophomore Harry Taylor thoroughly tested his arm in a 6 to 3 victory over the Giants. He walked nine but bore down magnificently in the clutches, filling the bases on walks in the second then retiring the next three men in order

Elmer Riddle

Two errors in the ninth one by Marty Marion gave the Reds an unearned run and a 4 to 3 victory over the Cards at St Louis. Still another sore-arm patient, Howie Pollet, worked well for seven innings in his 1948 debut before tiring but relief Pitcher Jim Hearn, victim of the bad fielding, was tagged with the defeat. Reliefer Harry Gumbert was the victor.

The Braves salvaged the finale at Philadelphia, 10 to 4, on 12 hits They cashed in on seven walks by rookie Curt Simmons in two innings to get off to a four-run lead, then coasted in.

The somewhat amazing Athletics won their third straight from the definitely disappointing Red Sox, 5 to 3, putting over two runs in the ninth when Sam Mele lost a fly in the sun The ball fell for a double by Barney McCoskey to drive in two runs. The victorious relief pitcher, Bob Savage, started the rally with a single and Eddie Joost followed with a double. Joost got three hits

The Tigers kept pace with the Athletics by winning their third straight, getting all their runs in a 3 to 2 victory over the White Sox at Chicago in the sixth after rookie Howie Johnson had held them hitless for five frames Virgil Trucks scattered eight hits to win his 1948 starter.

There were no other games scheduled

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Homer Does Some "Back-Seat Sewing!"

Homer Bentley's missus was working on her new sewing machine, when Homer comes in, draws up a chair, and starts talking. "Don't you think you're running too fast?" he says. "Slow down! Watch out! Be careful!"

When the missus finally turns with murder in her eyes, Homer says goodnaturedly: "I thought you might like a little help, dear—like you help me drive the car."

The missus can't help but burst out laughing—and they settle what might have been a quarrel over a friendly glass of beer. The missus agrees to give up back-seat driving and nagging Homer about ashes on the rug. Homer agrees to quit criticizing Sarah's taste for flowery hats and parsley salad

From where I sit, the key to getting on together is meeting every issue half way—and overlooking any petty differences in tastes—whether these tastes apply to beer or flowery-looking hats!

Tygers Take 10-Inning Thriller From Wooster

Mike Gruber Singles In Final Tally

By CHARLEY STINE

Mike Gruber, Mansfield Senior high third baseman, singled in the winning run in the last half of the tenth inning yesterday at Blue Goose as the Tygers defeated Wooster, 2-1, for their second straight victory

Gruber's sit, a hard grounder through the box, scored Sparkie Watts from second base, ending a two hour and 45 minute marathon which had carried through four extra innings

At least, two other Mansfield players and one visitor had made bids for stardom before Gruber settled the issue Little Phil Rogers saved the game temporarily for the locals with his seventh inning single which drove in Don Gross with the tying run

SWANK GETS CREDIT

Shelly Swank deservedly received credit for the win as he handcuffed Wooster completely after taking over the starter Lou Gregorio in the fifth inning.

Swank replaced Gregoria with the bases jammed and nobody out He fanned the first man, but had tough luck and hit the second batter, forcing in what looked to be the winning run From there on he was invincible as he struck out 11 men, walked none and allowed only three singles

JOE HITS FOR 3

Except for Joe Miller's fourth inning triple, the Tyger bats were silent until the fateful seventh Gross opened the seventh with a walk, followed by base hits by the two batting heroes, Gruber and Rogers With the score tied, Charley Marchant was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases with still nobody out

Richie Montanya, the tall loose-limbed iceberg on the hill for Wooster refused to be rattled He discarded his assortment of fancy stuff and poured fast balls over the plate to strike out Tom Tucker Corky Perrine and Swank in quick succession

LOADS THE SACKS

In the eighth inning Mansfield drew three walks and got one hit but still failed to score as Miller was caught off second

The ninth was uneventful but Watts opened the tenth by driving the Wooster left-fielder back to the fence with a long fly He dropped it after hitting the boards and Watts perched on second Miller struck out but Gross was hit by a pitched ball to set the stage for Gruber's game winning hit

The Tygers were scheduled to play at Galion this afternoon Coach Jimmy Lymper had nominated Lefty Dave Marks to hurl for Mansfield

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area

Even a so-called 'mild' case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as indigestion biliousness stomach trouble, constipation headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Reform Needed to Hold Italy's Gains

Although figures and details are not yet available to prove it, it is highly probable that the Socialists in Italy have in considerable numbers already broken away from the Communists, and that its decisive defeat may mean the dissolution of the Popular Front.

If that is correct, then in the next few weeks as the new government is formed, the crucial question will be whether de Gasperi and Saragat can agree on measures of reform and reconstruction, and on a distribution of offices, which will reunite the Socialists and bring them into a coalition with the Christian Democrats.

Nothing less than this can offer durable hope of a stable government in Italy.

We must not over-estimate the present reults o the election. The Communists were decisively defeated in the voting; the Christian Democrats got a good plurality; with the Saragat Socialists and some of the more dependable splinter parties, there is a fairly big non-Communist majority. But a 60% to 70% majority when it is a coalition, is not good enough to govern Italy well during the trying years ahead. It needs to be enlarged and strengthened by a divorce between the Socialists and the Communists, not only in the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate but also in the labor unions and in local politics.

MUST BE ISOLATED

Only when the Communists are isolated, will their power to cause trouble be under effective control. To do this is not only necessary to exclude them from the new government; it is necessary also to reunite and reorganize the Socialists so that they may be included in the government.

This is, of course, primarily an Italian problem in which the statesmanship of de Gasperi and the views of the Vatican will be the determining factors.

But the influence of the United States is great. The security and the sustenance of the Italian nation depend, unhappily, upon America, and therefore we shall be answerable for how wisely we exert our influence.

We seem to have given the Italians the impression, as that admirable reporter, Mr. Stewart Alsop, has just said in a dispatch from Italy, that we are "a reactionary Santa Claus."

The impression needs to be corrected. For unless the non-Communist coalition identifies itself with the reconstruction of Italy, not merely with anti-Bolshevism and relief, the electoral victory we are celebrating today will gradually become rancid.

Highway Director Clears Fogo

Reeb Rules Donations Were Voluntary

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Highway Director Earl L. Reeb said yesterday afternoon that any political contributions that had been made by deputy registrars of the bureau of motor vehicles were made "voluntarily."

"It is a good old American custom that those of us who mess in politics must contribute to the party," Reeb said following a brief meeting with traveling auditors of the bureau of motor vehicles.

"I don't find that anything had been done contrary to law," he added. "If any contributions have been made, they have been made voluntarily. The auditors told me they were not instructed by State Registrar Edward T. Fogo to advise anyone that they were supposed to pay anyone two cents per license plate."

Reeb called the conference following charges that Fogo had requested deputy registrars to contribute two cents for each automobile license plate sold in rural areas.

The highway director said he did not plan any disciplinary action against Fogo who has admitted accepting political contributions but defended the practice on the grounds it had been going on for 10 years.

"Since Fogo had not asked them to collect the money, I see no grounds for any disciplinary action against him," Reeb said.

During the conference, two deputy auto license registrars from Geauga county reported that a state highway department traveling auditor collected money for the political fund set up by Fogo.

Baby Alive In Garbage

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A newborn baby boy, found among garbage parcels on a city truck, was alive and well at Minneapolis General (City) hospital today.

Walter Lindell said the attention of himself and another garbage handler was attracted to the newspaper-wrapped package when it stirred after having been dumped into the truck from one of the refuse cans they were emptying.

Police questioned a 19-year-old onlooker exhibiting more than ordinary interest. Between sobs, she admitted she had given birth to the child an hour earlier in her nearby room. She was reunited with her baby at the hospital.
